

Admission of International students in Undergraduate Programme for the Academic session 2026-27

The first round of admission for international students to the Undergraduate programmes of the University of Delhi for the Academic Session 2026–27 shall conclude on 31 July 2026.

Seats against which the admission process is not completed by the above date shall be treated as vacant and will be considered for allocation in the subsequent round.

In order to provide an additional opportunity to the registered applicants (only), FSR portal will open for Upgradation Round for Undergraduate courses in first week of August for a very short period (2-3days).

1. To seek upgradation of their allotted course and/or college based on their preferences and merit; and
2. To complete the admission process due to the non-submission of the requisite documents at the time of application but are now in a position to furnish the same for consideration.

The admission in this round will be according to rules applicable in the first round of admission, and subject to availability of vacancies.

The interested registered applicants are advised to visit FSR website on regular basis for the updates regarding the Upgradation round.
